

Call for Applications

American Journal of Reproductive Immunology

Editor-in-Chief 2018-2022

Wiley and the American Society for Reproductive Immunology (ASRI), is seeking a new Editor-in-Chief for American Journal of Reproductive Immunology (AJRI). The term of service is from July 1st, 2018 through December 31st, 2022.

The duties of the Editor-in-Chief will include:

- The new Editor-in-Chief will make every effort to publish and actively solicit authoritative, original and high-quality research articles in the field of reproductive immunology.
- He/she will take responsibility for the scientific contents of AJRI.
- He/she will supervise the processes of peer review, reviewer selection, and communication with authors.
- He/she will make every effort to ensure a rapid and efficient review of all submitted papers.
- He/she will maintain the flow of accepted papers at a level and on a schedule for regular monthly publication of AJRI.
- He/she will identify, select and monitor key performance indicators (KPI) by which to assess performance of the Journal and its editorial team.

Application package:

1. A current curriculum vitae. Candidates for the position should:
 - Have internationally recognized standing in reproductive immunology
 - Have a broad knowledge of the field
 - Be experienced in editorial decision making
 - Be highly skilled in editing and writing
1. Specific objectives he/she wants to achieve over the duration of his/her term.
2. Strategies to increase readership, reputation and impact factor
3. Approach to maintaining the quality, accuracy and fairness of the review process.

Interested individuals are invited to submit an application package by e-mail to:

Nazeeh Hanna, MD, ASRI President
NYU-Winthrop Hospital
Mineola New York, USA
NHanna@nyuwinthrop.org

Applications will be accepted through April 15th, 2018

All applications and inquiries regarding this position will be treated in confidence.